Description

Come over at sunset (after dinner) to celebrate Halloween and help me raise the spirits of the dead over a glowing bonfire. I mean that strictly in a figurative sense -- i.e. "to eliminate depression and inspire" (Please don't go all buggy on me and start asking me if this is a cult.....because it absolutely is. *wink*)

- Only if the "spirit" moves you, BRING:
- A snack to share
  - Your favorite percussion instrument (drum, rattle, shells, etc.) -- If you don't have one, you can make one easily.
  - An enclosed candle (something you can set safely down)
  - A friend or family member or two...
  - Your camera
  - Your favorite ghost story, Halloween joke or other Halloween "share"...

No requirement to dress in costume unless you are moved; however, it would be fun to see your creativity come alive!

Kids welcome.

If you didn't receive an invite to this event, I do beg your pardon. It may be because:

- You are not in the Twin Cities Area + I thought you wouldn't likely be able to make it + I didn't want your "in" box to be cluttered with a mis-matched opportunity. If you are in town and would like to come, YOU ARE WELCOME. Please call me to make arrangements to stay with me! I have 2 fold-down couches in the basement.
- Facebook has some technical problems and doesn't list all of my friends in all aspects of the application. Technical difficulties, please stand by...
- I don't know you...either we haven't met -- or we have and I have misread you, thinking you'd be offended somehow by the activities of the evening. In either case, please reintroduce yourself to me. I'd like to connect.

Sorry to miss your party, I'm throwing my own Halloween bash (without bonfire, alas!).

But if you make it big enough, maybe I'll see it from Tucson!

We're spending that morning/afternoon with my parents, the evening with Jesse's parents, and, if time allows, we'd love to come down and visit!

Dear Rebecca...looking forward to it. I will be trick or treating with my boys first...and the dog will be dressed as, well, a wiener dog. Actually he is "the wiener" so I will dress him with a bun...ha, ha, ha. Reed will be a mummy, Raymond a Ranger Apprentice, me a "harried mom"...a great friend...and whatever else you can envision...all of us in costume...see you then. Yours, Rebecca (alias the "other Rebecca!")
